

Student Research and Ph.D. Funding Opportunities

Kevin and Debra Rollins Center for eBusiness Research Funding

<http://ebusiness.byu.edu/research/proposals.cfm>

The Rollins Center for eBusiness is soliciting research and mentored learning funding proposals for work relating to the mission of the center.

National Science Foundation (NSF) fellowship

<http://www.byu.edu/gradstudies/index.php?action=resources.fellowships>

The National Science Foundation (NSF) aims to ensure the vitality of the human resource base of science, mathematics, and engineering in the United States and to reinforce its diversity by offering approximately 900 graduate fellowships each year, including awards for women in engineering and computer and information science. NSF and are intended for students in the early stages of their graduate study.

Mentored Environment Grants

<http://marriottschool.byu.edu/gmc/opportunities/>

Grants sponsored by the Office for Research and Creative Activities (ORCA); Mentoring is a vital component of a BYU education that benefits faculty, post-graduate, graduate and undergraduate students alike.

Fulbright Scholars Program

<http://www.cies.org/>

The U.S. government's flagship program in international educational exchange; Senator Fulbright viewed the proposed program as a much-needed vehicle for promoting "mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries of the world.

Research Presentation Awards, BYU GSA

<http://www.byu.edu/gradstudies/gsa/index.php?action=researchawards.home>

Research Presentation Awards are given twice a year. Students who will be presenting their own research at a conference should apply in the period in which the research will be presented.

BYU Graduate Research Fellowship Awards

www.byu.edu/gradstudies/index.php?action=resources.fellowship&fellowshipid=57

The Graduate Research Fellowship award is a university award sponsored by the Office of Graduate Studies and is designed to support thesis and dissertation research and to encourage independent research and scholarly and creative activity among graduate students.