Study while eating Churrasco, but only pay BYU tuition!

Is the Student Exchange Program different than Study Abroad?
Yes! The Student Exchange Program (SEP) is an independent international experience. Unlike a traditional study abroad program where a student travels with a BYU professor and a group of BYU students, SEP is individual students immersing themselves with local and international students on a foreign campus for a semester independent of any BYU professor or other BYU students.

SEP is based on reciprocity and provides undergraduate business students with an opportunity to attend Escola de Administração de Empresas de São Paulo de Fundação Getúlio Vargas (FGV) a top business school in São Paulo, Brazil at minimal cost. One of the main benefits of SEP is that students have the opportunity to study at a foreign institution for the cost of studying at BYU and classes are taught in English! Students only need to pay BYU tuition. A lot of classes transfer directly to BYU so students will not lose credit or academic momentum by participating in SEP for a semester. For a full list of classes visit the Whitmore Global Management Center in 360 Tanner Building. Students need to be a Marriott School major and/or minor. The only classes that are guaranteed to transfer are business courses.

São Paulo, Brazil
Brazil is the largest economy in Latin America and the eighth largest economy in the world. São Paulo is the finance and business capital of Brazil. More and more businesses are setting offices in São Paulo; in 2011, more than 10 million foreign people visited the city - most for business purposes. GDP (PPP): $2.2 trillion, 7.5% growth and 4.4% 5-year compound annual growth. Although most South American countries are Spanish-speaking, the majority of South Americans (51 percent) speak Portuguese, and nearly all lusophones (Portuguese speakers) reside in Brazil, known for its friendly people, natural beauty, and its popular Rio de Janeiro. Known as the business center of Brazil, São Paulo also offers a variety of entertainment and wonderful restaurants. Because of Brazil’s ethnic mix, its cuisine takes on African, Asian, and European influences. Students can also enjoy some of the best foods of South America at the famous Churrascarias.

Since 1954, FGV has been preparing more than just professionals; it has been preparing citizens with a strong knowledge to cope with the challenges of a constantly changing world. The FGV faculty consists of approximately six hundred professors and collaborators in executive education programs, with a strong academic and professional background. For more information specific about FGV please visit gmc.byu.edu/exchange.

Program Details
- A broad spectrum of business classes are offered.
- Many courses feature learning experiences designed to actively involve students with the people, history, arts, attitudes, and traditions of Brazil.
- Many courses will count for Marriott School courses and toward the Global Management Certificate.
- While studying in Brazil, an important part of students’ educational experience will include visiting sites near São Paulo.
- Visits to cultural sites and other field trips such as museums, cathedrals, monuments, and theaters will enhance students’ study and increase appreciation and understanding of the Brazilian culture.

Prerequisites and Course Requirements
- Courses are available in both English and Portuguese.
- No Portuguese language skills are required.
- Many courses are transferable to the Marriott School.
- Students must complete at least nine credit hours to maintain full-time student status.
- All courses must be pre-approved before the trip by the Marriott School’s Whitmore Global Management Center.
- For a tentative list of courses available at FGV, please visit the GMC (360 TNRB).

Where do Students Live?
- Students are responsible for making their own housing arrangements.
- No on campus housing is available.

Preparation for Student Exchange
All students are expected to register through ISP for a one credit, pre-departure preparation class that will be held once a week during the 2nd Block. Contact Laura Ricks (360 TNRB) for more information.

What Funding Sources are Available?
- Regular BYU tuition scholarships, Pell grants, and Federal Insured Student Loans may be applied to Student Exchange Programs.
- Students who submit the financial aid section of the International Study Programs (ISP) application and who have a current FAFSA form on file at the Financial Aid office, will be considered for a SEP scholarship awarded through the Kennedy Center.
- Private grants and scholarships outside of BYU may assist: kennedy.byu.edu/student/scholarships.php.
