World News

Inside Alibaba, the World of Chinese e-Commerce

Faking orders, or “brushing,” as it is called in China, involves paying people to pretend to be customers. Chinese sellers found doing so face fines and restrictions on their business. Continue reading from the Wall Street Journal

NXP Semiconductors to Acquire Freescale for $11.8 Billion

On Sunday evening, NXP Semiconductors said it would buy Freescale for $11.8 billion, in a cash and stock deal that creates the semiconductor sector’s top supplier to automotive markets. Continue reading from Forbes

Netanyahu Speaks to Congress over Iran Nuclear Deal

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu spoke to Congress yesterday, warning the US of pitfalls in a potential nuclear deal with Iran. Continue reading from the Washington Post

Club News

Boeing Visit | Friday, March 6th

Come tour Boeing’s facilities in Salt Lake City and learn more about Boeing’s international operations. This is a great networking opportunity for all majors! RSVP here by Wednesday evening.

Mocktail | Thursday, March 26th

Learn how to network in a setting where alcohol is served.

Go to the Marriott School website and pay your club dues to receive emails with more information about club events. Also, like our page on Facebook!

Internship | L’Oreal

Are you interested in an internship with a well-known global brand? L’Oreal offers numerous international internships in their organization. For more information, click here.

Internship | Barcelona

Interested in an internship speaking Spanish in Barcelona for an insurance brokerage firm? For info, send an e-mail to byugmsa@gmail.com!