BRIEF BIO

James C. Brau

Jim Brau is the Joel C. Peterson Professor of Finance at the Marriott School and Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Entrepreneurial Finance. He received his undergraduate training at the United States Military Academy at West Point and served three years as an Airborne Ranger infantry officer in the United States Army and another five years in the Army National Guard and Army Reserves. While in the reserves, Jim earned his PhD from Florida State University in business administration and finance with a support area in econometrics. Jim joined the Marriott School faculty in April 1999 and was honorably discharged as an Army Captain in June 1999. In 2004, Jim earned the Chartered Financial Analyst designation.

Jim's research interests include issues pertaining to initial public offerings, entrepreneurial finance, and real estate. He has presented over 65 studies and published over 50 peer-reviewed articles to include articles in the Journal of Finance, Journal of Financial Economics, Journal of Business, Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis, Journal of Banking and Finance, Journal of Business Venturing, Journal of Real Estate Economics and Finance, and Journal of Real Estate Research among others. He teaches corporate and entrepreneurial finance to university-wide students at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Along with serving as editor of the Journal of Entrepreneurial Finance, Jim is on the editorial review boards of the Journal of Business Venturing and Financial Decisions. In addition to peer-reviewed articles, Jim has coauthored three textbooks: Principles of Finance: Intuition and Analysis (now in its 7th edition), Financial Analysis and Management for MBAs (in its 1st edition), and Introduction to Modern Business (in its 1st edition).

Among his awards are West Point Distinguished Cadet (top 5% of Senior class in academics, physical fitness, and leadership), West Point dean's list all eight semesters, FSU Phi Kappa Phi Outstanding Graduate Scholar Award (Valedictorian), three FSU teaching awards (one college level and two university level), five BYU teaching awards (three department level and two college level), three BYU research awards (two department level and one college level), one BYU finance department outstanding citizen award, three best-paper awards, and the BYU University Young Scholar Award (university-wide).

Jim consults with entrepreneurs, angel investors, and venture capitalists. His consulting focuses on start-up financing, venture valuation, business plan construction, and harvest strategies. Jim also serves as an expert witness in finance-related lawsuits.

Perhaps his best accomplishment in life was when Jim married Michelle West in 1991 in the Jordan River Temple. They are the proud parents of four children. In his free time, Jim enjoys family activities, bodybuilding, reading, and 1980s country music.
